

obstructionist here either, but they just aren't interested in it. They have an amendment here or there that they want, but this is the biggest rewrite of immigration policy in years and they are not really involved."