SOME EARLY ENGLISH RECORDS PERTAINING TO THE EASTMAN FAMILY

BY CHARLES R. EASTMAN, American Museum Natural History, N. Y. City.

Until comparatively recently nothing has been known of the origin of the Eastman family in this country beyond the fact that the first colonist of the name in New England, ROGER EASTMAN, sailed for Boston in the ship Confidence in 1638, and was one of the original settlers at Salisbury in Massachusetts Bay. The new settlement by the Merrimac was founded largely by Wiltshire emigrants, and a number of these, including heads of families by the names of Rolfe, Sanders, Whittier and Eastman, came from the parish of Downton, a few miles south of the shire town of Wiltshire. What Rowley and Newbury in England are to their daughter towns on this side the Atlantic, that Salisbury, England, is to our Salisbury in Massachusetts.

The Downton parish register was first searched for Eastman records by the present writer in the summer of 1910, and some notes on the origin of the family were published in the Granite Monthly, a New Hampshire magazine, for December of that year and the following October. Thanks to the generosity of Mr. George Eastman, man of Rochester, New York, it was possible to engage the services of an expert antiquary, Mr. Charles H. Hoppin, for the purpose of making a complete transcript of early Eastman family records preserved in Wiltshire archives. From the large quantity of material collected by this historian a selection has been made relating to the direct ancestral line to which the pioneer colonist ROGER belongs, and this is included in the present article. Much more space than is here available would be required to contain all the extant information.

Ancestral Line of the Pioneer Colonist.

First Generation.

The ultimate progenitor of this line of whom authentic records have been preserved is JOHN1 EASTMAN of Charleton. Following is a literal transcript of his original will, dated April 26, 1564, and proved May 9, 1565.

The foregoing document proves that the testator had only six grandchildren living in 1564, all of whom were minors. Two of the grandsons were named William, one of whom belonged to the family of Roger Eastman and lived at Charleton, in the parish of Downton, and the other, who was son of the testator's executor, at Weeke, in the same parish. Concerning the family that lived at Weeke, it will be sufficient to note that William Eastman (William* John*), was twice married, first in 1599, to Elizabeth Kempe, and secondly to Edith —, family name not found, who died in 1619. Downton parish records give the following as his children:

i. William, b. —; d. 1606.
ii. Margaret, bp. 1604.
iii. Elizabeth, bp. 1610.
iv. Alice, bp. 1614.

*The Latin note appended to the will may be modernized as follows:

"The above written will of John Estmann, late of Downton in our Jurisdiction of the Archdeaconry of Salisbury, deceased, was proved before Master John James, bachelor of law, official of the Lord Archdeacon of Salisbury, on the ninth day of the month of May in the year of our Lord 1565, and by him approved, etc., and [administration] was granted, etc."
Branch of the Eastman Family

Second Generation.

The foregoing will of John⁴ Eastman is authority for giving to his son Roger² of Charleton only two children who had been born prior to the year 1564 and were still minors when that instrument was made. Other offspring, however, must have been born subsequent to the year 1564, for we find at the time of Roger's death, in February, 1604, he, being then a widower, had eight children living whose names are known to us, and at least eight grandchildren. Besides these heirs, a married daughter of Roger,² who had been the wife of one William Skeate, executor under the will of Roger,² had previously deceased. Downton parish records show that Roger² Eastman was buried February 17, 1604. His will, dated January 11, of the same year, was proved six days following his death. The original will, unfortunately somewhat mutilated, together with the complete detailed inventory of the estate and administrator's bond is on file with the Consistory Court of Sarum, and is an important genealogical document.

The injury to the will itself is of such nature that a portion of the left hand margin has been torn away, or “perhaps eaten by rats,” as suggested by Mr. Hoppin, who prepared an exact transcript. The names of one or two of the beneficiaries are unfortunately lost, having been contained in the missing fragment, but from other sources we are clearly warranted in supplying one of them as William, who was either the eldest or second son. There are named as executor the testator's son-in-law, William Skeate, and as overseers "my well-beloved sonns Walter Eastman ye eld & John Eastman.” The remaining heirs, named in the order of their mention, were Nicholas and Roger Eastman, four Skeate grandchildren, and Mary, Edith and Thomas Eastman. Witnesses to the will were John Bebmaton, Thomas Fursley, Walter Eastman and John Eastman. A seal is attached, bearing the device of a talbot passant.

Third Generation.

We come now to the generation immediately preceding that of the emigrant Roger, and find entries in the Downton parish register for reconstructing the families of his uncle William and father Nicholas as follows:

William (Roger, John), born some time prior to 1564; died after 1622. He married (1) Edith —, who died in October, 1605. He married (2) in 1607, — (name blank or illegible in Downton parish register). Resided at Downton. Children:

i. John, bp. March 29, 1603; d. 1663, leaving son John.
iii. Greenway, bp. Aug. 26, 1609; was “late of New Alresford in the Countie of Southampton” in March, 1660, at which time his widow was the wife of Thomas Bone.
viii. Hugh, bp. May 1, 1622.
Branch of the Eastman Family

Nicholas 8 Eastman (Roger, 4 John 1), born probably between 1564 and 1570; died some time after 1625. He married Barbara — (family name probably Rooke), who was buried at Downton, July 9, 1625. Resided at Charleston. Children:

i. Thomas, 4 bp. Jan. 9, 1602/3; m. Oct. 21, 1634, Alice Sanders, sister of John Sanders of Weeke. He was living in 1656.

ii. John, bp. Dec. 24, 1605; m. July 28, 1628, Margaret Newman. His will dated Jan. 5, 1656/7, and proved April 4, 1657. Her will dated Nov. 8, 1673, and probated Dec. 4, 1673; both buried in the parish church at Downton. They had children:
   i. Christiana 6, who m. John Noyes.
   ii. Barbara.
   iii. Alice, who m. James Barrowe.
   iv. Margaret, who m. Thomas Wheeler.

iii. Margaret, bp. March 26, 1608; m. July 20, 1635, Richard Howse.

vi. Maurice or “Morris,” bp. April 26, 1615; will proved May 8, 1669, by his executors “William Rooke and Barbara his wife,” designated in the will as “my kinsmen.” Bequest of £100 to “my kinswoman Barbara Rooke, the daughter of William Rooke,” and £50 to sister Mary Moody. Thomas Eastman overseer.
Genealogy of the Harvey Eastman

vii. William, bp. Jan. 21, 1617/8; had a son William; both living in 1669.
x. Mary, bp. March 24, 1625; m. John Moody. She was living in 1669, as were also her three children: Mary, Edith, and Maurice (or “Morris”).

As has already been stated, the earliest ancestor who can be directly connected by authentic records with the line to which Roger, the founder of the family in this country belonged, is John Eastman of Charleton who died in 1565. A number of Eastman items occur in the Ecclesiastical Commissioners’ Court Rolls for the Manor of Downton, ranging in date from 14 Edw. IV to 30 Henry VIII (1475-1540). In these manor court rolls, under date of 1539, is found the following entry, where mention is made of both a John and Roger Eastman of Charleton:

Membrane 1. 1539.
Downton Manor. Court held there 17 December, 30 Henry VIII.
Charleton: The tithingman there presents that Roger Estman has been sworn into the office of tithingman; and that (in reckoning the pannage of pigs) Roger Estman has two old and six young pigs; and John Estman the younger, one old pig... Nunton [Nunton]. John Estman has one old and two young pigs.

In conclusion is offered a copy of Eastman items taken from the vital records of Romsey, Hampshire, not previously published:

4. Roger Eastman, born at Charleston, near Downton, in Wiltshire, England; baptized April 4, 1610; died in Salisbury, Mass., December 16, 1694. He married Sarah Smith (?) born in 1621; died at Salisbury, Mass., March 11, 1697. Roger Eastman was a house-carpenter by trade. He came from Downton, county of Wilt, and sailed from Southampton in April, 1638, in the ship “Confidence,” John Jobson, master, bound for Massachusetts Bay Colony. Salisbury is one of the oldest towns in Massachusetts. It was incorporated in 1640 and Roger Eastman was one of the pioneer settlers. Children: John, Nathaniel, Philip, Thomas, Timothy, Joseph, Benjamin, Sarah, Samuel, Ruth.

5. Joseph Eastman, born in Salisbury, Massachusetts, November 8, 1650; died April 4, 1692. He was a weaver by trade. Joseph Eastman married Mary Tilton, who was born February 8, 1649. She was the daughter of Peter Tilton, a man of note and influence. After the death of Joseph Eastman, his widow married Joseph Guensey and moved to New Jersey. Children: Joseph, Mary and Peter.

6. Peter Eastman, born in Hadley, Massachusetts, January 20, 1686; married Mehitable Root of Deerfield, November 28, 1708. There is no record of his death or of the number of children born. According to tradition there were twelve sons and some daughters. Peter Eastman probably settled in Suffield, Connecticut, at that time in Massachusetts, as we find in the records of that town the birth of five children. From Suffield Peter removed to New Jersey some time between the birth of his son Hezekiah and son Benjamin. He returned to Connecticut and located in New Fairfield in the thirties. The history of that town says he built the first house there. Children: Peter, Mary, Peter, William, Hezekiah, Benjamin, Azariah, Joseph, Mehitable.

8. Hezekiah Eastman, born September 1, 1748; married October 17, 1774, to Hannah Porter and died September, 1831. Hannah Porter Eastman born March 29, 1751, and died August 12, 1820. After the death of his wife Hezekiah Eastman married again. The second wife's name was Sarah but we have been unable to find her maiden name or the date of her birth, marriage or death. Hezekiah Eastman was a Baptist minister and was ordained October 1, 1781, at the house of Stephen Calkins. He was the first settled minister of Danby, Vt., and the first pastor of the first church there.

The following story is told by a niece, Saphronia, who was living in Canandaigua, New York, at the age of ninety-four (1900):

“At the time Danbury, Connecticut, was burnt, Joseph Eastman, father of Hezekiah, lived a few miles north of that place, and he, with his three sons, Nathaniel, Joseph and Hezekiah, were called out with the militia to repel or capture the "Red Coats," who had succeeded in burning Danbury. A Tory family lived nearly opposite the Eastman house and they opened their house and made preparations to welcome the British when they came; but not so with the Eastmans. Abrato get the sick boy on to the horse and start for the hills as soon as the “Red Coats” came in sight. Soon she saw a single horseman coming, who informed her the raiders had been captured and there was no more danger from them. The Tory family across the way shut their doors, closed their windows and were seen no more that day.”

Hezekiah Eastman moved to New York and settled in Marshall, Oneida County, where he died, and was buried in a little plot of ground taken off the original farm on which he settled. Children: Harvey, Buell, Joseph, Hezekiah, Sarah, Phebe, Hannah, Saviah.
