I rode and walked up from the Metro with Kevin. He said "I've been going around trying to get people interested in the bill, but nobody's interested." Why? "They ^{don't} feel comfortable with the bill. It's been around so long. Each one will write a memo to his Senators telling him what it's about. Also it's so far down on the agenda that they can't get interested in it. They think it has come along too late. It's 10th or 12th. It won't come up today." I asked him how much of his time in his year and a half he had spent on 1688 "Too much, 5% to 7%. That's a lot, as much time as I've spent on anything else. Maybe I spent a little more on the criminal code. I've spent time on bits and pieces."

He says Thurmond has monopolized the floor this term except for the budget. I should check.

He gave me a copy of the agenda - 1688 is about 10 or 12, as he said.
