

KEVIN MILLS

March 26, 1982

I bumped into Kevin and asked how things were going. He said Paul was doing the report. He said polling the bill out of subcommittee requires two votes. (1) Unanimous consent to do it by polling (2) a vote on the substantive matter of the bill. (3) They have to do this for 25 subcommittees. needed

When he gets report, he can use that to talk it up with staffers of committee members.

He has been doing some talking already - Denton, Bentsen and Hatch are cosponsors now.

"Once the Department of Justice endorsed the bill, the chances of passage went up drastically. They went up so high we now have a chance to pass the bill."

He asked me to come over and see the polling forms--said they were unique and interesting.
