

Mark Andrews

October 22, 1981

Garrison Diversion language to Mark Andrews: "The project must go forward. We have 17 communities in my state with severe water problems. One town is considering using their second stage sewage pool as the intake for their water system. If that's not an environmental nightmare I've never heard of one. The only people who disagree are the environmentalists who never get any closer to North Dakota than to come up there, make trouble and leave..."

MA Both sides for Win had the problem - guaranteed you'd be taking the same part

Put I probably used + I'd probably be wrong.