"I used to think that we could look forward to a letup during recess, but it's not true anymore. We are drowning in paper. Everything the Senator does produces a sea of mail. Three or four years ago, it would not have happened this way. But now that he's been on Face the Nation and Meet the Press, everyone writes. A few weeks ago Forbes Magazine called him the Senator from Arizona. Three years ago, no one would have noticed. The letters poured in--to Forbes. He ate crow and sent us the letters. They came from all over the country."
