

PETE DOMENICI

March 10, 1982

I was waiting for Nancy in the Senate when Pete walked by. "I've been behaving myself." "I saw you on Meet the Press. I thought it went very well." "Everybody who saw it seems to think so." "You seemd to say exactly what you meant to say." "I did. I had four points. I only left one out--one explanation. It was pretty pro-Reagan, didn't you think? They can't get mad at me for what I said, can they?" "It seemed like you said leave taxes aside and let's concentrate on budget restraint. Is that what you meant to do?" Yes, we can't do it without taxes, but we've got to show him we've got a little restraint in our blood."
