

He calls the campaign man "amateurish" and said the fund raiser quit because of that. They wanted to turn over solicitation of big money to "interns" - or, anyway, untrained people. Also their hedging on getting started hurt fund raising.

He says he thinks Glenn is in stage one of his campaign, in sense that everyone likes to see him and thinks of him as a hero. Each new place he goes, people welcome him--as hero. Pretty soon he'll have to give something back to them or the hero will wear pretty thin. Says John will have difficulty then, because he doesn't give much of himself to others and because he doesn't have much of an issue profile.

Campaign issues guy asks Kirk to produce men on "what has John Glenn done for human beings?" Kirk is flabbergasted. Turns out they mean hunger and poverty. So he asks why they want the memo. A friend of Kenny Rogers agent has told someone that if they'll tell him what JG has done for human beings, Rogers' agent says Rogers may sing a song favorable to John Glenn! Show biz/
