

information from the Iowa Broadcasters Association. Just one or two phone calls. But she didn't know enough to ask. And someone worked on that for 6 months!

"Jerry Fitzgerald, our Candidate from Congress from the 5th District took over Glenn's headquarters there after Glenn left. When they were cleaning it, out, they found a box which was filled with the caucus manuals for the precinct leaders in the 5th District. Each Glenn precinct captain should have had one on caucus night; but not one of them had been delivered. We found out that the Glenn coordinator there had worked his heart out. He had called the home office time and time again and had never gotten any support or cooperation. He got so frustrated he said 'I'll get 'em.'" And he just didn't distribute the manuals. Now that's a pretty high level of frustration and breakdown."

"When Glenn started attacking Mondale, Iowans didn't like it. Iowans don't like negative campaigning. They were victimized by it twice, in the Clark campaign and the Culver campaign. They don't like people turning the machine gun on their own ranks and spraying bullets all around. And they don't like the bullets lying all around waiting for Republicans to use them against Democrats. That hurt Glenn badly."